

“Sheer Engineering Solutions was completely dedicated to placing me within the area of the country that I wanted to call home. Patrick is a very energetic individual, highly skilled and worked hard to find the type of structure I was looking for in an efficient and professional manner. He helped me secure a position with a large and highly respected electrical contractor in southern California all while guiding me through the negotiations step by step.

In one word, Patrick was INVALUABLE through the entire process. Having Patrick on my side while negotiating kept me confident, positive and prepared for each step of the process. He still follows up with me weekly to make sure things are going well.”

-Chad A., Lead Estimator

“I met Patrick through a cold call while working in an area I enjoyed very much. He called at just the right time because my wife and I had been talking of relocating to Southern California from Wisconsin. It took a lot of time for us to finally decide to make the move, mainly because of the distance. Moving half way across the country can be nerve racking, but Patrick made me realize there was more out there, and the value of what I do was worth far more than I realized. It was this that got us started.

Through the process it was the professional, non-pushy attitude that made me realize that Patrick was on my side and not just another Recruiter. He is very professional and very good at his job. Great weather, great job and as it turned out, another great friend in Patrick.

If you are looking for someone you can trust and someone who will stand for you, you are in contact with the right man. I highly recommend him.”

-Bob B., Estimating Manager

“Patrick recruited me for my current position. I found him professional, diligent and encouraging during the process. He managed the interview and hiring process efficiently and addressed my requests and concerns thoroughly. In addition, Patrick was informative in the cross-border visa and employment process. I am pleased to have worked with Patrick as my recruiter.”

-Soheil F., Hardware Engineer

“I’ve had the fortune of working with Patrick twice over my career. My first major move came when I was working as an electrical engineering design consultant in Illinois. Patrick was instrumental in convincing me to move into a contracting role down in Texas. It turned out to be a great career change and life experience in moving to another state.

Ever since this first contact, Patrick continued to follow up on my career and opportunities. Eventually, another opportunity arose in Southern California. He was quick to bring my name up and over several months, he was again able to convince me of a great opportunity. Both experiences continue to shape my career and overall opportunities in the market. Patrick continues to be a great resource for managing my career.”
